PARENTING IN THE 21ST CENTURY: WHAT RESEARCH FROM THE GESELL INSTITUTE OF CHILD DEVELOPMENT TELLS US IS MOST IMPORTANT

with Dr. Marcy Guddemi

Friday, January 22, 2016

9:30-11am

Church of the Holy Comforter
222 Kenilworth Ave, Kenilworth, IL 60043

FREE EVENT | Open To The Public

To register, visit www.TheAllianceForEc.org

Onsite childcare available @ $15 per child.

Space is limited. Online reservations must be received by 1/19/16.

Join Dr. Marcy Guddemi, the Executive Director of the Gesell Institute of Child Development on the campus of Yale University, who will share the Institute's current research on how children develop and how this informs today's parenting. For example, the Institute recently confirms the progression of healthy child development has not changed over the past 100 years, despite a shift in early education expectations. Dr. Guddemi will discuss the implications of these findings for parents and educators and what we can do to bring back more balance into children's lives.

The Alliance is grateful for the support of its 2015-16 sponsoring partners:
